Award Kind: DaVinci

Recipient: Team

For: Impeccably researched artwork with a message.

Text:

This team's thorough research impressed the Appraisal Team as the team explained how an art class had inspired them to recreate the murals of Diego Rivera to create awareness for the international issue of sweatshop labor. This team created an incredible work of kinetic art with a clock that moved endlessly to represent the long days of sweatshop workers. It hid a tortured face that depicted the invisible struggles the workers faced. This team impressed Appraisers not only with their masterful artwork, but by truly using their solution to capture the spirit of international teamwork to solve an important issue in today's society.

Recipient: Team

For: Masterful engineering and technical work tied together with perfect teamwork.

Text:

This team's hilarious Presentataion had the Appraisal team laughing from the moment it started as they solved the international issue of an erupting Aztec volcano. Every member of this team was clearly incorporated in all parts of this technically astounding Presentation, where repurposed home objects, like a mixer and RC car, were re-engineered to create well-designed scenery and props that seamlessly integrated important plot points. This team demonstrated phenomenal problem-solving and collaboration skills as they explained a technical effect that resulted in a literal "WOW!" moment, when a Sun Calendar was dropped into place and the entire scene transformed as the result of a well-engineered system of switches.

Award Kind: Renaissance

Recipient: Team

For: taking significant risk in creating more than 14 stunning Tech Effects that were beautifully integrated into the skit.

Text:

This team went above and beyond to incorporate more than fourteen different Tech Effects that were all executed beautifully. They took great risks and succeeded spectacularly. Each Tech Effect contained exquisite detail and high integration between beautiful costumes, backdrops and tech effects that flowed together seamlessly. They worked together to create a truly extraordinary solution that lived and breathed the story. Some examples include: the realistic bird that sang and had eyes that moved, a waterfall that was made from a scrolling panel combined with lights and running deer powered by a series of wires and motors.

Recipient: Team

For: Exemplary skill in research and design to create a pair of perfectly intoned and playable guitars of wood and cardboard.

Text:

The team created a pair of perfectly intoned and playable guitars made of wood and cardboard. The materials used to construct the guitars were from home improvement stores. The tuning pegs were made from nuts and bolts, the frets were made of toothpicks, and the bridges were hand carved. The creativity of their construction and the integration of the music from these guitars was stunning. When played together, the duet sounded like it was played on Luthier built guitars.

For: A creative solution to bridge a 1300 mile gap to allow all members to be a part of the Globals experience. #InItTogether

Text:

This team truly embodied the name of the Challenge, In It Together. After winning at their Affiliate Tournament, a health issue resulted in one of this team's members being unable to attend any meetings in person. The team wanted to ensure that this young man could help the team prepare and fully participate in the Global Finals experience, so they came up with creative ways to ensure that all team members were integral to their solution. The remote student was able participate in the Structure Check-In procedure, the team's Prep, and play a role delivering lines live from 1300 miles away. Once their Challenge was complete, the team also made sure to take their teammate with them to explore all the fun going on at Global Finals. This team truly exhibited the Spirit of DI.

This team displayed its original journey to save a young Vela from an untimely death. Our hero hopped aboard a well-engineered Dia de los Muertos Carousel in search of items to save her. The Carousel featured a bobbing dead fish, prancing pneumatic bone horse and a skeletal flamingo. After three cycles, the Carousel diverted the creatures via a sophisticated automated detachment mechanism, allowing the hero to continue his journey.

The Appraisal team was initially impressed with the depth and intricacies of the backdrop, including a spinning Earth. As the Presentation progressed, there were more surprises as an automated system, initiated by a golf ball, rid the sky of space garbage. The vivid colors, bold brushstrokes and team-created pigments combined to create a depiction of deep space that drew everyone watching into the Presentation. Additionally, the 3-D elements of the backdrop brought all of the other elements and props of the Presentation together.

For: Teaching acceptance and sustainability in a unique recycling "world" using intricately-designed costumes and sets.

Text:

This team brought to life one of our most innovative "worlds" by recreating the inside of a recycling bin. Team members created unique costumes constructed entirely of the recycled materials that featured:

a skirt and hat made from Coca Cola cans sewn together;

socks made entirely of soda straws;

a complete newspaper ensemble, with a paper-flower skirt, fedora and intricate necklace made from newspaper pieces rolled into varying-sized beads;

dressess created with Jello boxes, grocery bags and cardboard paper tubes.

To complete the effect, they created a set piece depicting the interior of the recycling bin with dozens of faces, creatures and flowers made completely of the recycled materials.

By the end of the story, the characters learned to accept and appreciate a new resident to the bin - a banana peel - teaching the audience dual lessons about eco-friendliness and acceptance of others. To top it off, they collected all of the recyclable materials by placing bins throughout their school, making their solution impactful not just to the Appraisers and audience, but also to their entire school.

For: Creating a spectacular aquatic world using innovative technical methods, creative materials, and unique 3-D set design.

Text:

This team used an aquatic theme and their years of DI experience together to create 3-D scenery that was a spectacular blend of both fantasy and realism. Their shipwreck setting was brought to life by melting and carving pieces of foam to create the realistic look of weathered wood. Their coral reef was created from colorful dollar store treasures like sponges, shower loofahs and cloth dusters which, along with their patterns, made the underwater world POP.

One team member brought a ship ornament to life, capturing the spirit of the story with beautifully carved wings (with 400 hand-made foam scales) and by painting herself shades of copper green. This team's attention to detail, creative innovation, and spirit of teamwork truly "blew it out of the water!"

For: Using circuit design, engineering, and advanced programming skills to create an impressive vanishing act.

Text:

The team wowed the Appraisers with an advanced understanding of electronics and computer programming, using concepts of circuit design, computer components, and electrical relays to bring their vanishing act to life. The team built a circuit board from scratch, using copper foil to connect LED lights to the relays, controlled by a Raspberry PI computer programmed by the team in Python.

The Raspberry PI computer was controlled remotely via Bluetooth with a Wii remote control built into the apprentice's wand. The team taught themselves Python (programming language), learned how to solder, how relays work, and how to troubleshoot failed controllers.

Not only did they build the circuitry, they integrated it seamlessly into their Presentation by building it into a large coat of arms prominently displayed on a castle wall to enhance the effect of the vanishing act.
